

AWD FACTS

AWD courses focus on discipline-specific writing. Students take AWD when they have between 64 and 96 credit hours. We recommend, but do not require, that students complete a co-op before enrolling. Students should avoid taking AWD in their final semester.

AWD

- Day and evening times
- Service Learning
- Honors
- Online
- Multilingual sections
- Fall, Spring, Summer

CLASS CHOICES

Designed for students on co-op, online AWD is best for organized learners with excellent time management skills. Online AWD relies on virtual group work and text-based learning.

ONLINE AWD

English language learners and former ENGW1102 students complete the multilingual survey on the Writing Program website to be enrolled in a multilingual section.

MULTI-LINGUAL WRITERS

CLASSES

3302 – Tech Professions
3303: Environmental Professions
3304 – Business Administration
3306 – Health Professions
3307 – Sciences
3308 – Social Sciences
3309 - Humanities
3311 – Pre-Law
3314 – Arts and Media Design
3315 – Interdisciplinary:
(collaborative work across multiple disciplines)

TRANSFER CREDIT

Northeastern does not accept transfer credit for AWD. AWD-type courses taken at other schools may receive elective credit.

OVERRIDES

Students seeking AWD outside their discipline must have significant coursework and co-op experience. Send requests to English@northeastern.edu

WAITLISTS

Students seeking enrollment in a full course should use the Registrar's waitlist option. AWD courses are never over-enrolled.

CONTACTS

Cecelia Musselman (c.musselman), Director of Advanced Writing

Laurie Nardone (l.nardone), Director of the Writing Program

Admin. general email: English@northeastern.edu