<https://learning.northeastern.edu/>

“Our Mission

The Center for Advancing Teaching and Learning Through Research (CATLR) inspires, equips, and connects learners, educators, and scholars to design, integrate, and research learning across experiences.

CATLR provides a broad range of opportunities for all Northeastern educators, including faculty, co-curricular educators/staff, graduate students, and postdoctoral fellows to deepen their practice in ways that enhance student learning—through workshops, consultations, research, customized programming, assessment, and the development of new, innovative models for learning and education.

We promote educational principles and practices that value diversity and intentionally foster inclusive learning environments.”

NU ADVANCE Office of Faculty Development:

<https://faculty.northeastern.edu/advance/>

“The office oversees, creates, and assesses faculty development programs while serving as a resource to interested parties on the Northeastern University campus. The office assists faculty and administrators in accomplishing departmental, college, and university goals with respect to faculty recruitment, retention, mentoring, and advancement.”

Among other things, ADVANCE manages mentoring groups, promotion workshops, and faculty writing groups. Check out their Resources page: <https://faculty.northeastern.edu/advance/resources/>

ADVANCE also provides our free membership in NCFDD: The National Center for Faculty Development and Diversity. Sign up for your free sponsored account here:

<https://www.facultydiversity.org/join>

NCFDD provides useful time management, teaching, professional development, and “mentoring” resources that you can use at your own pace, including a new bundle of resources about returning to campus.

ADVANCE draws on NCFDD resources in things like their Mentoring Toolkit: <https://faculty.northeastern.edu/app/uploads/sites/5/2021/04/Mentoring-Panel-Toolkit-FINAL.pdf> (See page 6 for the NCFDD Mentoring Map.)

Boston-Area Rhetoric and Writing Network (BRAWN):

<https://bostonrhetoricwriting.org/>

BRAWN provides free professional development and networking opportunities to writing instructors in the Boston area with special focus on reaching those instructors who do not have access to other professional development resources. Their biggest event is the annual Summer Institute, now celebrating its 10th anniversary!

BRAWN is on Facebook:

<https://www.facebook.com/BostonRhetoricandWritingNetwork/>

and Twitter: @BostonRhetComp

Register on the website for more!

Look for outdoor BRAWN gatherings this fall, both social and prof dev oriented, including restarting a cross-institutional teaching visit program.
